

Nearcode

Nearcode is Capscan's new 'nearest' look-up solution that provides a fast and accurate way to return the location of the nearest outlet to a specified address. By simply entering a postcode, partial postcode, place name or grid reference, Nearcode will return a list of the nearest locations from a database, such as retail stores, local government centres or regional offices. With Nearcode you can specify the number of outlets within a certain radius that you wish to retrieve, and display the distance in miles or kilometres.

And what's more, it's incredibly easy to install, use and maintain. The Nearcode database requires no re-building in order for the program to recognise any changes. This means that existing records can be amended or deleted, and new records can be added, simply and easily. It also can be linked to mapping programs to graphically show the geographic location of the nearest outlets. It's the ideal solution for providing rapid delivery and location information in customer contact centres and store-finder websites.
